To thrive, a beehive depends upon effective security and efficient communication. Foragers convey information at the speed of flight, whether at home or in the field, while guards scrutinize and expel security risks, leaving workers the freedom to conduct the business of the colony with optimized productivity and minimized vulnerability.

Now, you can harness the power of the hive with help from Helio Solutions, a Sun Microsystems iForceSM Partner. Our strategy for enterprise messaging streamlines e-mail and instant messaging, connecting workers with each other and with vendors, partners, and customers around the world. What's more, it incorporates the industry's finest front-end spam filtering, virus elimination, and e-mail and IM threat prevention software.

United by proven storage and server architecture from Sun Microsystems and supported by the best partners in business, our enterprise messaging strategy is a comprehensive framework that protects your company from internal and external threats, enables compliance, and improves communication, the key to professional success.

At Helio Solutions, we're committed to finding and implementing the best and most cost-effective solutions to meet your enterprise messaging needs. If you're hungry for the sweet taste of victory, our approach to enterprise messaging gives your workers the tools they need to succeed.

At Helio Solutions, we unite technological savvy, extraordinary customer care and comprehensive procurement options. From assessment to implementation and procurement, we're ready to provide you with solutions that meet your needs and budget.
